The following is what the Morgan County Messenger has to say of a double candidate: Messrs S. J. Wheeler and E. L. Williams will be candidates jointly for the County Clerk's office. It is not fully decided by the two gentlemen which name will be used on the ticket but it is settled that they will make the race, and if they are elected share equally in the proceeds. Sam and Lige have many friends and will be a hard pair to beat.

A traveling man of Pittsburg, met a young lady at Rome City, Ind. last Monday, wired her an offer of marriage on Wednesday, was accepted by return dispatch and was married on Thursday

Two petitions of about the same words and signed by 400 citizens asking the pardon of James W. Tate, the defaulting Ex. Trasurer of this state, were laid before Acting Govenor Worthington. The petitions must have been gotten up some time ago, as the names of many whose signature appear on the petition are now dead.

A tramp appaled to a well known lady of Mr. Sterling for something to eat, she told him that if he would saw some wood she would give him a square meal, which the tramp agreed to do, but said he was so weak he must eat before he sawed the wood. The lady prepared a bountiful meal and left the room. Returning shortly, she found the tramp had gone taking all that she had provided for him along and left a note on the empty table bearing the following: "Just tell them that you saw me, but you never saw me saw."

Marshall Field, who is one of the shrewdest advertisers in the country, says that the wise business man should spend twenty-five per cent of his net income in advertising when business is slow, rather than five per cent when it is brisk; that he advertises because he wants customers and the more attention he
